

The Beginning of a Journey: Selected Poems 25th April 2025
Earl Lovelace 9781845235901

This stunning new collection draws together poems written by Earl Lovelace between 1956 and 1966. Readers will delight in Lovelace's acute sense of poetry's rhythms, and his poet's capacity to produce stunning visual/aural images.

£10.99 | PBO

Wandering Spirits of Exile 10th July 2025
Monica Minott 9781845235994

With ekphrastic poetry at its core, these poems weave history and emotion, confronting institutional violence and social disenfranchisement. A tribute to heritage, identity, this powerful collection breathes life into images, capturing their essence and telling their stories.

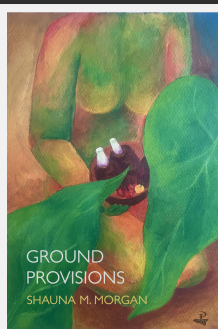

£10.99 | PBO

After Poems, Psalms 7th August 2025
John Robert Lee 9781845236007

"After Poems, Psalms should be received as a gift, a balm and a cause for celebration. Here is a companion to assist spirit wrestlers and lovers of poetry in their quest to identify the numinous in both the human and the natural worlds." LORNA GOODISON

£10.99 | PBO

Ground Provisions Debut 25th September 2025
Shauna M. Morgan 9781845236014

'The debut book of poems by Jamaica-born, US-based Shauna Morgan, uses a deep engagement with the natural world to grapple with the making and remaking of uprooted and transplanted selves.' - Trindiad Express

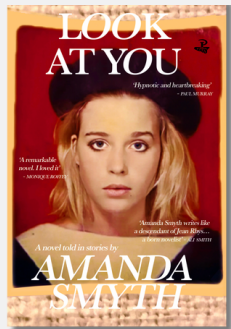

£10.99 | PBO

Other Wild 9781845236045
Emily Zobel Marshall

This outstanding second collection explores the lives of errant women and creatures who refuse to adhere to official paths, and the liminal, boundary-crossing wildscapes of the land and heart.

£10.99 | PBO

Look At You

9781845235895

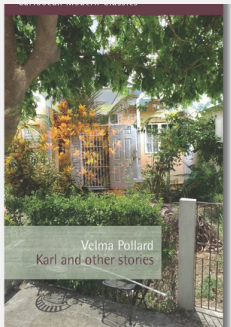

24th April 2025

Amanda Smyth

This powerful novel in stories follows its young narrator, growing up in a divided family. Shifting between Trinidad, England, and Ireland, she must learn to make sense of herself, and take her place in a world full of contradictions, cruelty and temptation.

'Amanda Smyth writes like a descendant of Jean Rhys' ALI SMITH

£10.99 | PBO

Karl and Other Stories

9781845235987

24th April 2025

Velma Pollard Caribbean Modern Classic

With an incisive introduction by Daryl Cumber Dance, and seven further stories of women's lives in Jamaica, the wit and righteous anger of this classic reissue remains wholly pertinent thirty years later, and reminds us what a sterling contribution Velma Pollard made to Caribbean literature. £10.99 | PBO

The House in Bacolet

9781845236007

25th September 2025

David Lambert

British couple Hugh and Julia Pennington buy an old church to convert on a former cocoa plantation on a Caribbean island. Hugh and Julia want to 'get involved' in the life of their adopted island home. But they little suspect how much the past horrors of slavery, and their best intentions, will impact their lives.

£12.99 | PBO

Concrete Dreams

9781845236021

23rd October 2025

Ferdinand Dennis

Concrete Dreams follows Jamaican Lucas Bostock and his family, living in London from the 1950s-1990s. Lucas the same ambition from his four children. The narrative, intertwined with an enigmatic narrator's story, explores family, ambition, and resilience amidst the struggles of life in the diaspora.

£14.99 | PBO

Peepal Tree Press is an independent publisher of Caribbean and Black British writing. Its list includes the Caribbean Modern Classics series, fiction, poetry and non-fiction titles. This year Peepal Tree celebrates 40 years of nurturing and launching the careers of some of the most significant voices in Caribbean and Black British literature, from Bernardine Evaristo to Kei Miller. Since HopeRoad joined the Peepal Tree Press family in 2024 we've enjoyed joint success with Vincent Delecroix's Small Boat shortlisting for the 2025 International Booker.

